OVERVIEW OF AFLI

The African Flagship Languages Initiative (AFLI) is a special initiative of the Boren Awards for International Study offering awardees the opportunity for intensive language study of Akan/Twi, French, Swahili, Wolof, and Zulu, and for cultural immersion by participating in domestic and overseas language programs. Participants may start with no language proficiency through advanced proficiency in Akan/Twi, Swahili, Wolof, and Zulu. French is offered at the advanced level only. The program is hosted at the University of Florida

IMMUNIZATION info

Health Compliance

IMMUNIZATION

Every new UF student is required to show proof of having health insurance and certain immunizations before arriving on campus. To register for classes, students must submit a completed UF Mandatory Immunization Health History form.

Newly admitted students: Please allow at least 1 week from your UF acceptance/account creation for any Florida SHOTS records to pre-populate.

1. Log into the Student Self-Service Portal
2. Go to Immunization
3. Click the green Print button to see what vaccines are already on file. If all of your vaccines are on file, you're done!
4. If not, attach and submit your documentation. For more information on how to submit file, click here for a video or read more here
5. Check your One.UF account to see if your immunization hold has been cleared. Missing vaccines will appear on your To-Do Items.

The screenshot shows the 'Immunization' page in the Student Self-Service Portal. On the left, there is a sidebar with a 'Print' button at the top. Below it, there are sections for 'Requirements for All Students', 'Requirements for International Students', 'Requirements for Health Professions Students', 'Requirements for Secondary Admission Students', and 'Optional Vaccinations'. The 'Requirements for All Students' section is expanded, showing a list of vaccines. On the right, there is a 'View Existing Immunizations' button with a red arrow pointing to it. Below this button, there is a 'Submit' button. The page also features a 'To-Do Items' icon in the top right corner.
